

Josh Packard, Ph.D.

Executive Director of Springtide Research Institute

SUGGESTED INTRODUCTION

Dr. Josh Packard is Executive Director of Springtide Research Institute, which maintains the largest dataset on young people and their spirituality in the U.S. Josh has a doctorate in sociology from Vanderbilt and he's the author of several books including Meaning Making: 8 Values that Drive America's Newest Generations and Church Refugees: Why People are Done with Church but Not their Faith. Josh is a sought-after speaker and author and has been featured in the Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, CBS, USA Today, and more.

SHORT VERSION:

Dr. Josh Packard, Executive Director of Springtide Research Institute, is an accomplished researcher and speaker on young people in America, specializing in their spirituality and their relationship with religious groups and faith leaders. A talented speaker and writer with over ten years of teaching experience, Josh has been a guest on numerous podcasts and radio shows as well as a sought-after speaker at conferences, events, and workshops. He has been interviewed and published widely in both academic and popular outlets including The Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, Christianity Today, The Huffington Post, Deseret News, CBS, USA Today, and more. Josh earned his Ph.D. in sociology from Vanderbilt University and did his undergraduate work in English at Texas Lutheran University.

FULL VERSION:

Dr. Josh Packard, Executive Director of Springtide Research Institute, is an accomplished researcher and speaker on young people in America, specializing in their spirituality and their relationship with religious groups and faith leaders. A talented speaker and writer with over ten years of teaching experience, Josh has been a guest on numerous podcasts and radio shows as well as a sought-after speaker at conferences, events, and workshops. He has been interviewed and published widely in both academic and popular outlets including The Wall Street Journal, Washington Post, Christianity Today, The Huffington Post, Deseret News, CBS, USA Today, and more. Josh earned his Ph.D. in sociology from Vanderbilt University and did his undergraduate work in English at Texas Lutheran University.

Josh is the author of several books on religion and sociology. His newest book is Stuck: Why Clergy Are Alienated from Their Calling, Congregation, and Career ... and What to Do about It with co-author Todd W. Ferguson. Meaning Making: 8 Values That Drive America's Newest Generations, was published by Springtide in July 2020. He also wrote Church Refugees: Sociologists reveal why people are DONE with church but not their faith (Group, 2015) with co-author Ashleigh Hope, The Emerging Church: Religion at the Margins (Lynne Rienner Publishers, 2012), and The Air We Breathe: Sociology of Religion (Kendall Hunt Publishing, 2016) with co-author George Sanders.